Link & King's Collection of Interpretations on the Outbound Investment Provisions

Author： Link & King

On July 1, 2026, the Provisions of the State Council on Outbound Investment (State Council Order No. 837) entered into force, marking the first time that China's outbound investment regulation has been elevated to the level of administrative regulation. From fragmented departmental governance to a unified framework, from enterprises to resident individuals, and from approval/filing to security review—these new rules will profoundly affect every Chinese investor "going global" and their overseas partners.

To help practitioners quickly grasp the key implications, Link & King Law Firm has compiled a series of in-depth commentaries. The collection covers: the his torical evolution and division of jurisdiction of the regulatory system, compliance responses for overseas partners, the compliance window for cross-border individual clients, technology transfer and personnel dispatch, shipping industry compliance, and claims under international arbitral awards—combining theoretical framework with practical guidance.

Whether you are an in-house counsel, investor, or overseas counterparty, this collection offers a clear regulatory roadmap. Follow the WeChat official account of Huanzhong Law Firm to download the collection of interpretations.
